COMSC 3375 : Database Systems

Organization concepts and terminology of data models and the underlying data structures needed to support them. Thorough presentation of the relational database management system including an introduction to SQL programming, normalization and database design. Introduction to the programming interface to databases. Prerequisite: junior standing; COMSC 1450.

Credits 3
Course ID
007190
Requisites
COMSC 3375 Prerequisites: COMSC 1451
Semester Offered

Spring semester