

HIST 3370 : The Enlightenment and its Critics

After critical reading of selections from the main thinkers of the Enlightenment, from Descartes to Kant, founders of the ideological currents that lead through modernism to post-modernism, we will consider some important thinkers who have gone against the current of Enlightenment axiomatic beliefs about human nature and human fulfillment, so to speak, with alternative paradigms on the great issues confronting modernity.

Credits 3

Course ID

009167

Requisites

HIST Upper-Div Requisites: Second-semester sophomore standing (45+ credit hours).

Semester Offered

Spring semester, even years