

MDSA 6364 : International Law

Beginning with the customs and sources of international jurisprudence, this course introduces essential legal terminology and distinctions focusing on the lawful exercise of power of nations. Relevant topics include international organizations and methods of dispute resolution, especially armed conflict, human rights, global environmental law, and law of the sea, air, and space.

Credits 3

Course ID

009194

Requisites

MDSA Prerequisites: Admission into the MDSA program.