

PHIL 5363 : Law & Grace in Aquinas

Aquinas's Commentary on the Metaphysics stands out as perhaps the clearest commentary ever written on the metaphysical treatise(s) of Aristotle. This course will offer a guided reading of the Commentary, exploring several questions, including: To what extent do Aquinas's own distinctive metaphysical views appear in his Commentary? How does Aquinas understand the structure of metaphysical science? What are some of the influences on Aquinas's interpretation of the Metaphysics? Some previous familiarity with Aristotle's Metaphysics is encouraged but not required.

Credits 3

Course ID

002305