

SOCI 1301 : Introductory Sociology

A scientific study of human society, including ways in which groups, social institutions, and individuals affect each other. Causes of social stability and social change are explored through the application of various theoretical perspectives, key concepts, and related research methods of sociology.

Credits 3

Course ID

009359

Semester Offered

Fall

spring semesters